Description

Having lived in a van in Europe for a period, the vision was always to create something practical. I wanted the materials to be as responsibly sourced as possible. All of the wood is FSC certified, the insulation is made from recycled plastics, the floor tiles are made from natural raw materials, sustainably sourced cork, etc. The kitchen sink and faucet are imported from Europe. Attention to detail is the name of the game. I originally bought the van with the intention to rent it out as well as use personally, so I spec'd it as such. A change in plans means I am now looking to sell. The mileage on the van is all highway miles on the original wheels/tires. The bulk of the mileage was put on it while getting the custom seats fitted in LA, picking up parts and materials from businesses in Marin and Sonoma, and that's it. The KO2's were put on less than 200 miles ago. Below I have listed everything that the van has ready-to-go, and the few things that need completing. In instances of items that need completing, I have specified what materials/components will come with the purchase, and what you will need to source yourself.
