Description

I have a Sierra 399 Loft, do not confuse this with a wood frame keystone. This is an all aluminum frame. Brand new this model with the options is right around 100k. These trailers are typically not towed often and just parked at a park or lake property. Has polar package, signature package, premium package. These packages included an upgraded dual fuel water heater, electric fireplace heater, gas furnace with central air, central A/C, central vacuum system, heated water tanks includes fresh, both grey and black tanks and a removable hitch. Many of these trailers do not have water tanks as they do not have the polar package for extreme cold weather use. This RV also has a FULL TRANSFERABLE WARRANTY that covers anything and everything on the RV from the tv to the hitch and lighting. We bought this to use while we built our house but life had other plans for us.
